"One small step for man, one giant step for mankind." A new frontier which presents the world with a new hope, a new dream - that there is a place where the civilizations of the world can start anew, with unity, peace, and understanding among all - this is what man's first steps on the moon represented. We, as newly graduated nurses have new hopes and dreams too. In a sense, we are starting anew ourselves. As we dedicate our new lives, let us look forward to the future with our eyes looking up and our efforts reaching out, striving for a unity among all peoples. With this in mind, we dedicate PLEDGE 70 to the concept of UNITY, hoping this concept will become something tangible, and hoping that each of us may play a part in making it so.

THAT'S ONE SMALL STEP FOR A MAN — ONE GREAT STEP FOR MANKIND that endless journey to the 11th floor when you couldn't get an elevator?

when you discovered 5 A.M.? when studying produced results?
when the entire 11th floor flunked the Nursing 154 exam?
the trips to Dr. G?
beginning student apraxia?
when you'd hide in the medicine cabinet from the instructors?
the absolute fear of team nursing when you felt "who, me a team leader?"
having expressive aphasia in seminars and conferences?
how we were promised that things would get better after Junior Med-Surg?
when we couldn't wait for the Senior Class of '69 to graduate so they'd stop singing!!! getting thrown into a cold shower at 3 A.M. to be officially initiated as a senior?
wondering if we'd ever get out of Baltimore?
the general apathy that came back with us in September?
when you actually liked nursing?!!!

JUNIOR

MEDICAL – SURGICAL

NURSING

1,200-1,221-1,222

200 of Dextrose-800 of Ringers Lactate-That should be just fine.

You mean "Slick Vic" didn't include that?

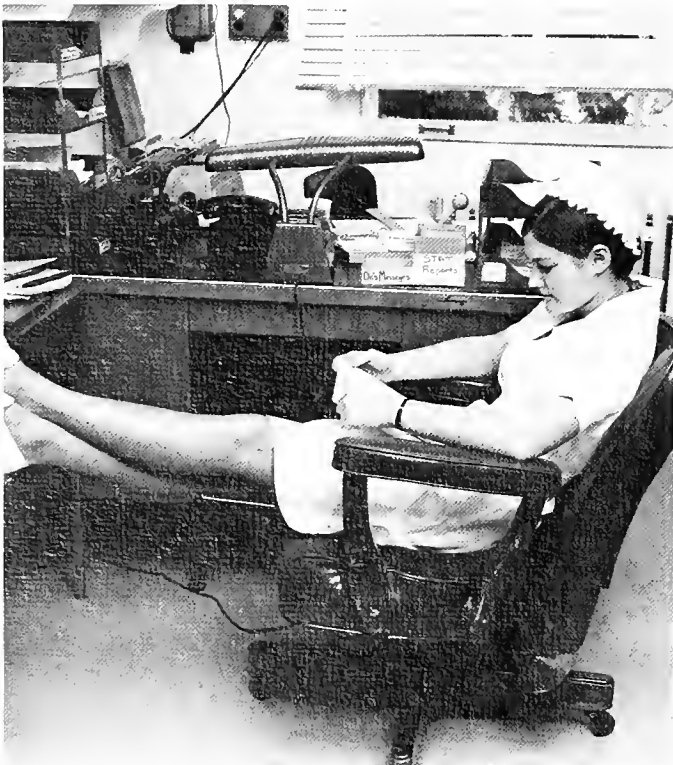

Sorry, I haven't had that lecture yet.

What do you mean you don't know how to run this thing either?

Locate your landmark, insert needle, aspirate. Good grief- I forgot the medication!

So that's what Juniors do on the ward!

Should I use a square knot, a French knot, or a bow?

How was your day today?

I don't like to butt in, but are you sure you know what you're doing?

Oh, you don't have any pulse?

We're out of tablets; just take the liquid.

One gram equals sixty minims or was it sixty grains or Twenty ounces live weight!

I wonder how much this one costs?

This is MY baby!

Are they for real?

How can a fellow sleep with two women hanging over him?

OBSTETRICS

Hey, Phyllis, my lap is getting warm.

I've heard about these students.

Now just relax . . .

So that's how it works!!!

And where are the narcotics?

Buy my tonsils aren't broken.

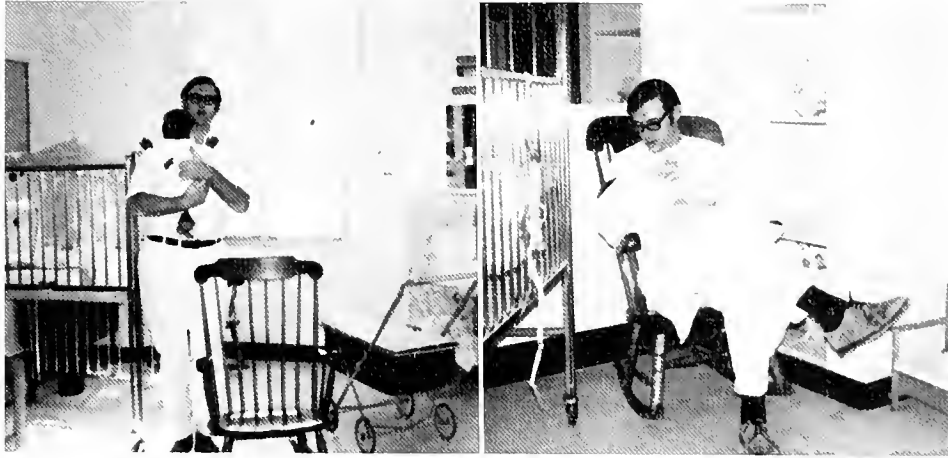

Tell Santa she "wants her mommy."

What a humiliating way to have your picture taken!

I want the ones with the little white bunnies.

PEDIATRICS

Our boy, Rock-a-bye Dick, in action!

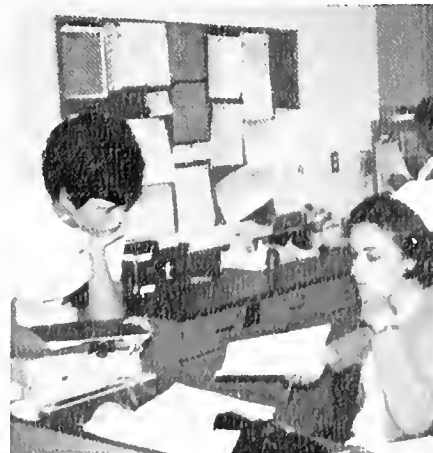

This is the way you make the bed . . .

And they call this handwriting???

Oh no! I wonder what I did now?

What a day!!!

Can you hold this awhile?

SENIOR MEDICAL

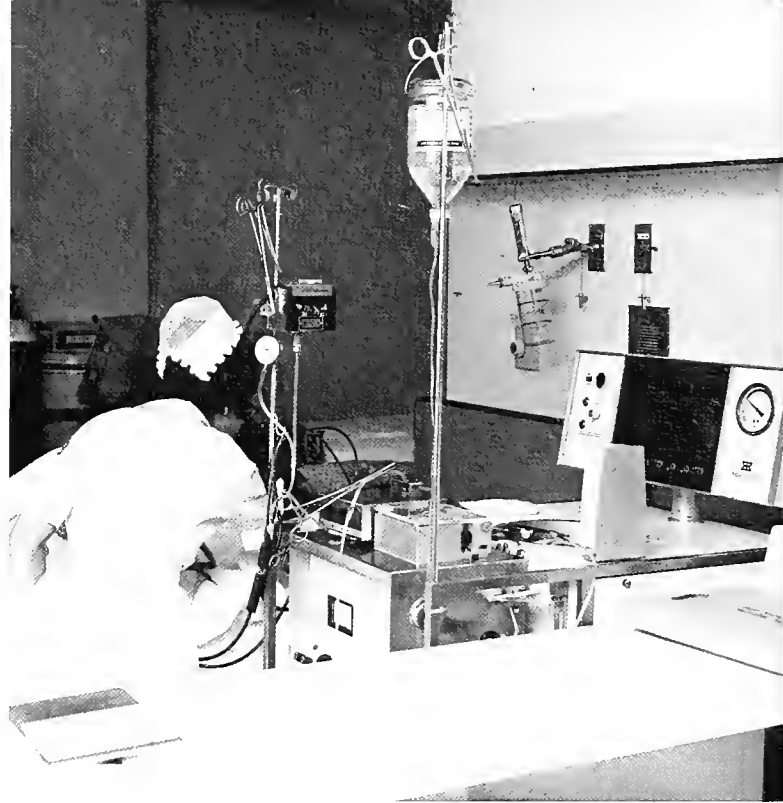

Sir, I think your skin is a little dry!

Shall I wrap it, or do you want to carry it?

I know there was a patient here somewhere?

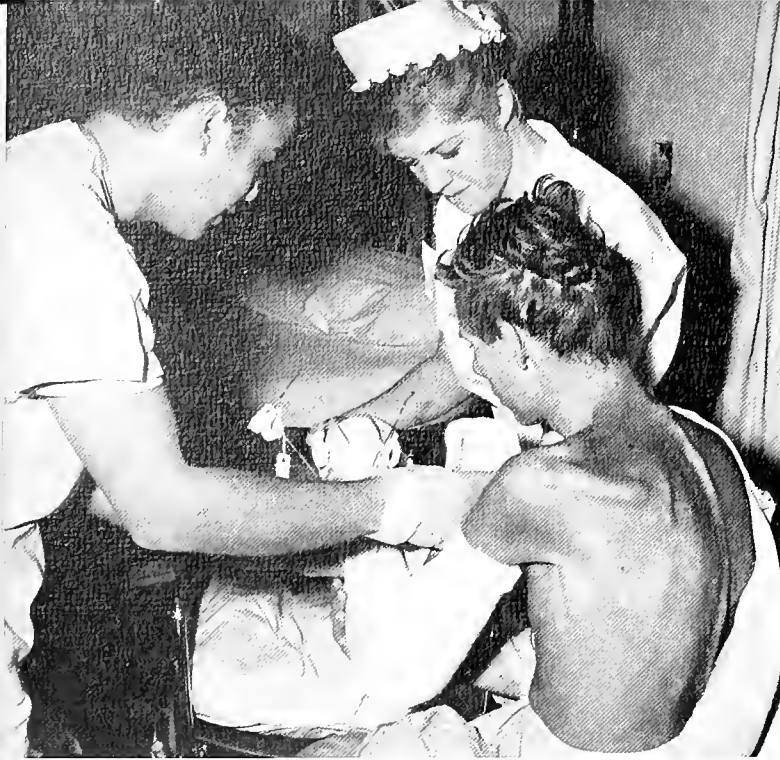

SURGICAL NURSING

One more pass, buddy, and you get a shower instead of a bath.

The little green one is for your stomach, the long, skinny, purple one is for . . .

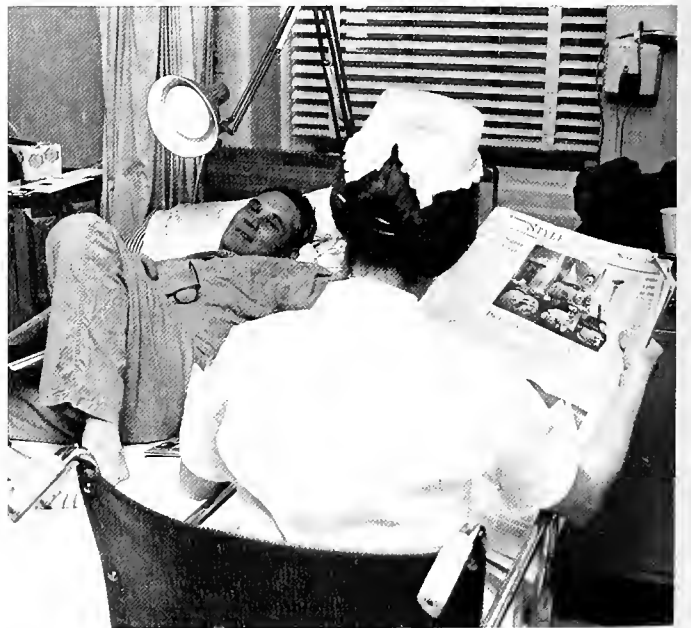

Here's the ammunition for your sling shot.

WRAIN-white, have you tried crossing your heart.

But, darling, I think your uniform is stylish enough.

A record for this week—number 172 down the hatch!

All this for a hangnail???

Ooops! Sorry about that, sir.

Gee . . . the new curriculum is really great!

"I'm sorry, ma'am. I don't think there's any bubble bath left . . . what about some soaky toys?"

OOh . . . so that's what that hole is for?

Help! I only came in here for a coffee break!

Personally, I prefer the Rolling Stones.

Oh, look! Here's another juicy tid-bit.

16 giant steps south and 2 angel steps west and don't forget to say "may I."

Have you tried the yellow pages?-that way we can let our fingers do the walking!

PUBLIC HEALTH

This one told me that the reason she was pregnant was that her birth control pills weren't strong enough.

What else did I do wrong?

Caught in the act!

Whoopee, another day.

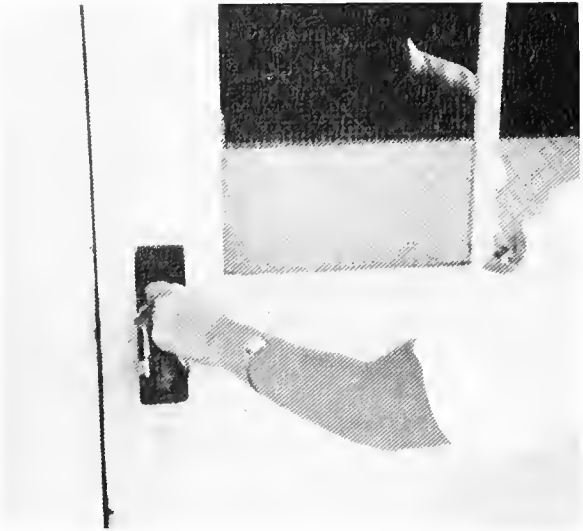

You mean I can really come and see you?

This map reading course is ridiculous!

PSYCHIATRIC NURSING

Withdrawal.

If you're smart, and want to make it through psych, follow the three rules below.

Look what we have!

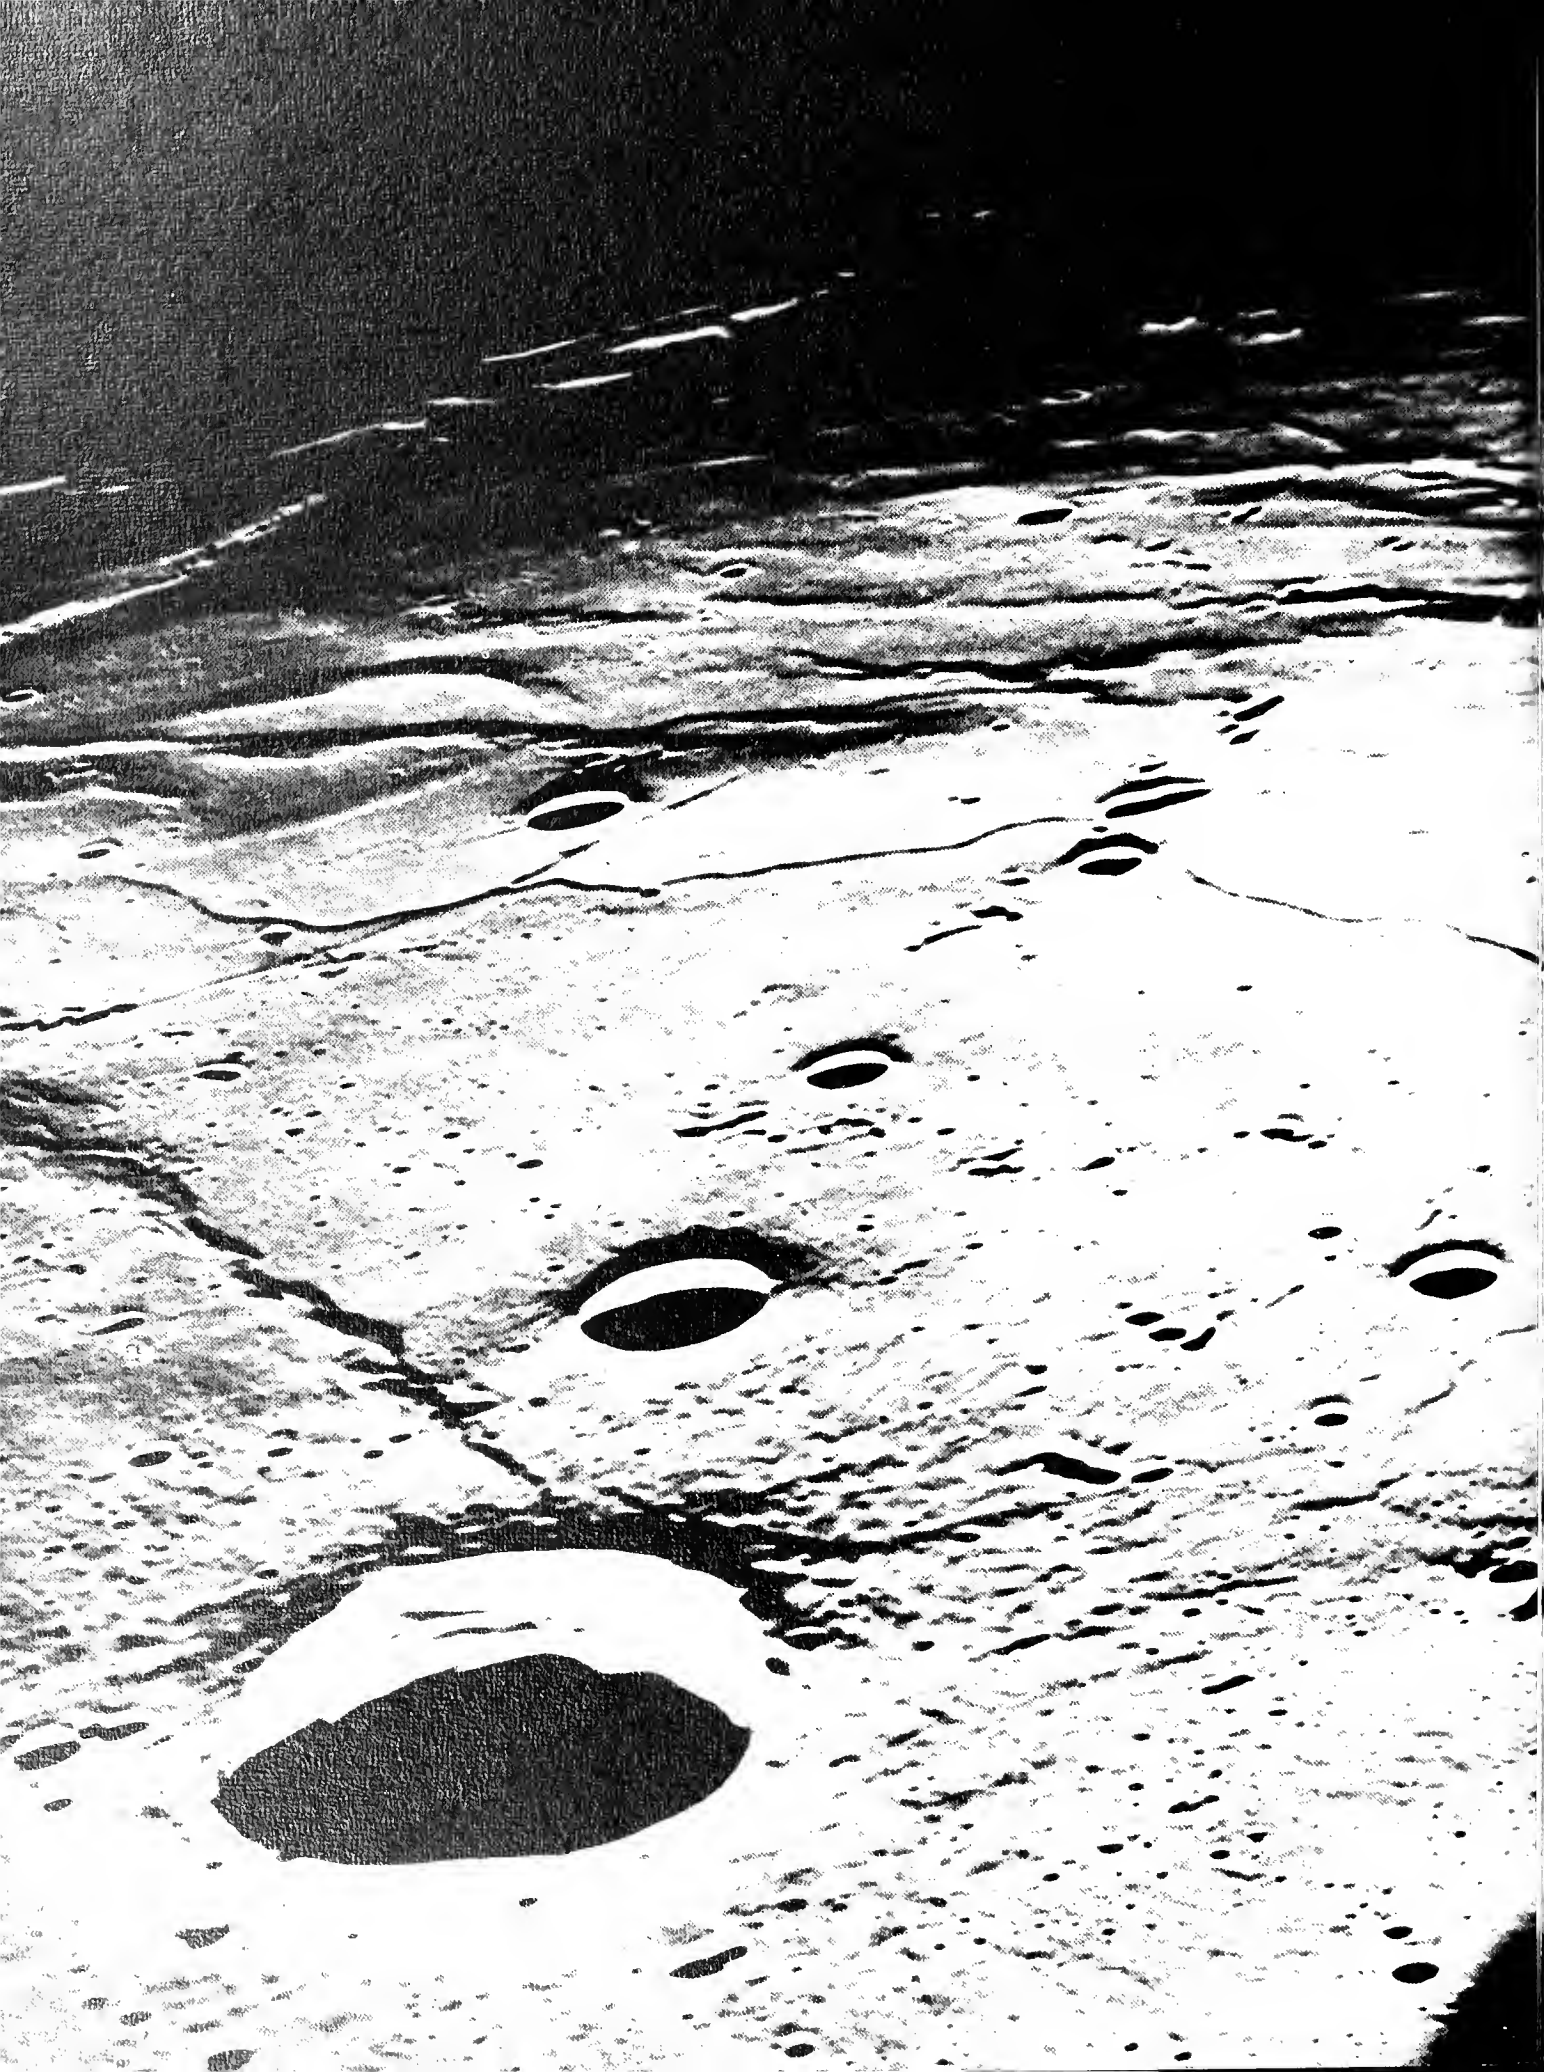

I get by with a little help from my friends.

... at the end of a day in psych.

ASSEMBLY

CHAPEL GUILD TEA

At the beginning of each school year, the Walter Reed Women's Chapel Guild sponsors the Chapel Guild Tea. The tea is traditionally held during orientation week for the new students at Walter Reed. The purpose of the tea is to help acquaint students with their new environment.

Members of the Women's Chapel Guild served delicious refreshments at the tea.

Phyllis Goodman introduced members of the junior class to persons forming the receiving line.

HOMECOMING NOVEMBER 7, 1969

Former Homecoming Queen Marty Bravo presents 1969-70 Homecoming Queen Jo McKee with a bouquet of roses.

Homecoming Queen, Jo McKee, and her court: Camille Comas, Robyn Linrothe, Kathleen Kelly, and Kathy Vetter.

The trumpet beckons all to dance.

"The look of love" . . . says it all with the eyes!

Vocal accompaniment for the Rising Sons!

The music of The Rising Sons set the mood of the dance.

FLUTING

A time of dedication . . .

For the Juniors, having passed their initial weeks of training, a time of pledging themselves to the principles of their chosen profession.

For the seniors, a time of renewing that pledge.

A time of festivity . . .

For all, a time of starch, doughnut crumbs and laughter.

A light in the dark

As a nurse, I pledge:

Lots of starch

A little bit of patience

And a few antics

CAP FLUTING

There must be an easier way.

"Well, girls, how do I look?"

"You mean it's not to drink?"

"So this is how they do it."

COLLEGE PARK VISITS

Every year at the Baltimore Campus we welcome our fellow nursing students from College Park, who come to assure themselves that they are nursing students and that there is a hospital . . . somewhere.

A name tag is a must for everyone.

Everyone is placed in a small group before touring the hospital.

Refreshments are always a good start, and it provides a time to meet new people.

Student and faculty have an opportunity for informal discussion.

COME AND GET IT!! (Before it's all gone.)

STUDENT-FACULTY PICNIC

Each year the students in Baltimore and at WRAIN look forward to the student-faculty picnics. Two picnics are usually held each year at Walter Reed - one in the fall and one in the spring. The students in Baltimore have their picnic in the spring.

The picnics provide an opportunity for students and faculty to get together outside the classroom setting. There is a great deal of laughter and fun for all as well as lots of good food! These are truly enjoyable occasions that shouldn't be missed!!

Now, who hit that volleyball down the hill this time?

Hum a few bars, please, and I'll fake the rest!

"It won't hurt much longer."

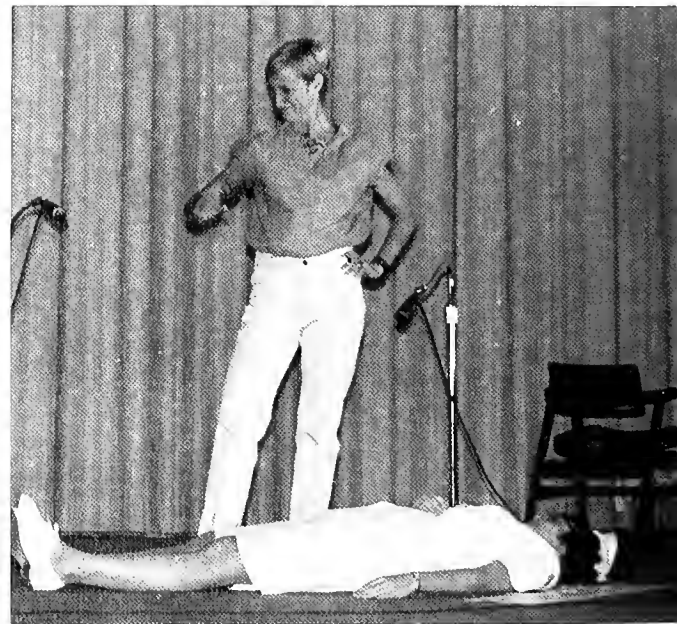

"It's a What?"

SENIOR SKIT

"Hey Sooper-Nurse—want to hear a "Slick" nursing rhyme?"

"Slick Vick"—Lady Killer!

"I should have eaten my Wheaties for breakfast!"

"Just a little off key LTC Morgan!"

HALLOWEEN BASH

Costumes Galore!

"Alright, Gr—ooup."

"A Metzenwhat?"

You can stop scrubbing now, your patient is in Recovery.

"One, two, three . . . GO!"

Glove technique?

Scrub-a-dub-dub, three nursing students at one tub.

"You say a Student Nurse?"

WRAIN SENIOR DINNER DANCE

To celebrate the holidays, the WRAIN seniors held their first Dinner - Dance at the Walter Reed Officers' Club. Under a cascade of snow flakes, the seniors wined, dined, and danced to the music of an ensemble from the United States Military Band. The glow of candle light added a festive atmosphere to this occasion and all who were there agree that it was an evening to remember.

I'm the engine and he's the caboose.

Someone didn't brush with Crest.

I'm ten years older but my hands don't show it.

OK, I'll follow you to the altar!

You're such a gentle toe hopper!

If she doesn't stop breathing on my carnation, she will wilt it.

How about swapping?

A clear cut case of smiling inappropriately.

So I didn't use my Ban tonight.

Will you excuse me for a minute, please?

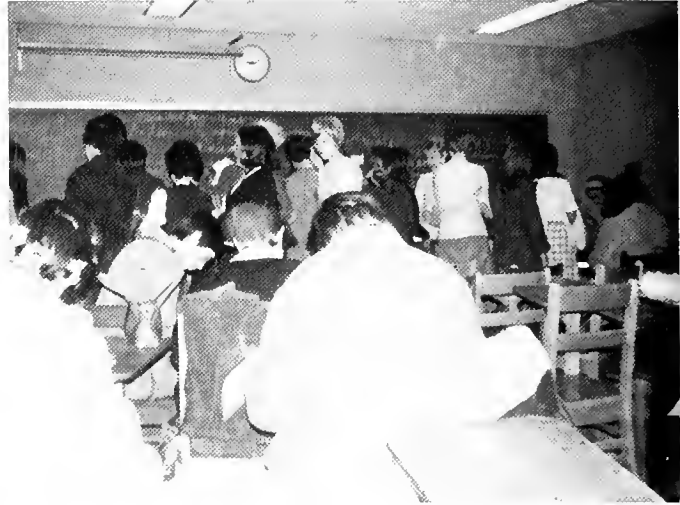

What do you say we get rid of them and . . .

Sign in, please.

Our Swinging Housemothers—or WRAIN's answer to MAME

Finale

You deserve champagne
You're the students of WRAIN
May your ideals stay shiny and new.
With your heads held high
You'll justify
The faith that we all have in you.

You will all progress
To outstanding success
And show nursing what it can gain.
With flags unfurled,
You'll show the world
That the best nurses come from WRAIN.

SPHN (Semi Professional House 'Nockers)

An experiment in dorm living.

They promised me the answers would be at the bottom.

Ban takes the worry out of being close.

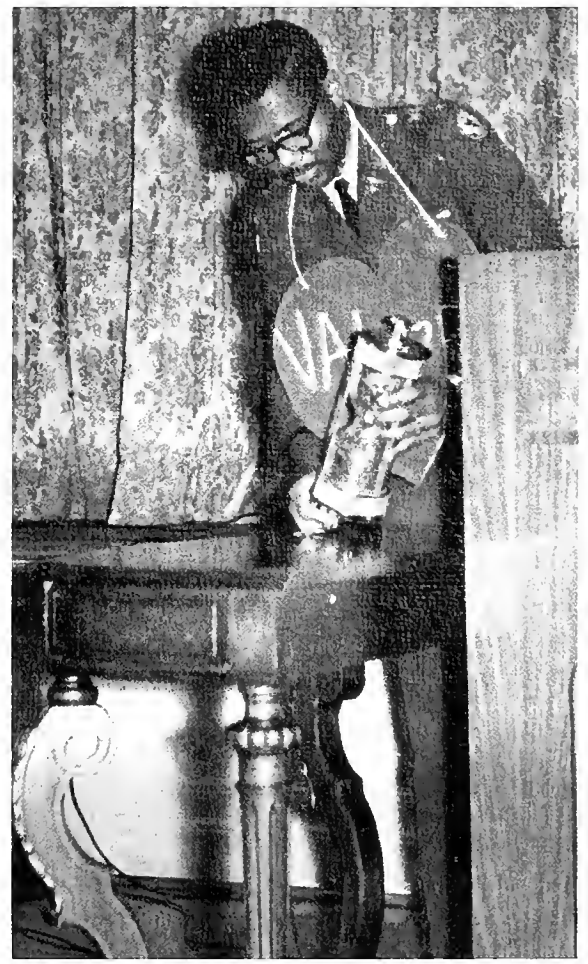

Leaving on Fri. afternoon . . . no wonder they're smiling.

But is it statistically significant? For that try the t test.

The new troops fall in for their first formation with 1SGT Goodman.

Farewell and "Auld Lang Syne" for Captain Brown.

Back in the old days when juniors were coming and not leaving . . .

"WRAIN Drops We Have Heard on High"

"Linda, where are you?"---your staff.

"They said it might help if I kept cool."

The pumpkin is crying--he has Med-Surg, too!

Time for another big decision.

"My group had fewer cavities!"

"No, we're not selling cookies today."

"You can sing without my guitar!"

"I am not Catholic!"

SENIOR 200 DAY PARTY

Snowflake among the WRAINdrops.

Surely those feet can't smell that much like onions?

So he wants to be a nurse?

"You say I should have music to pour cider by?"

And how do you like Baltimore?

Girls, beware of nursing school.

The next step in ambulation is . . .

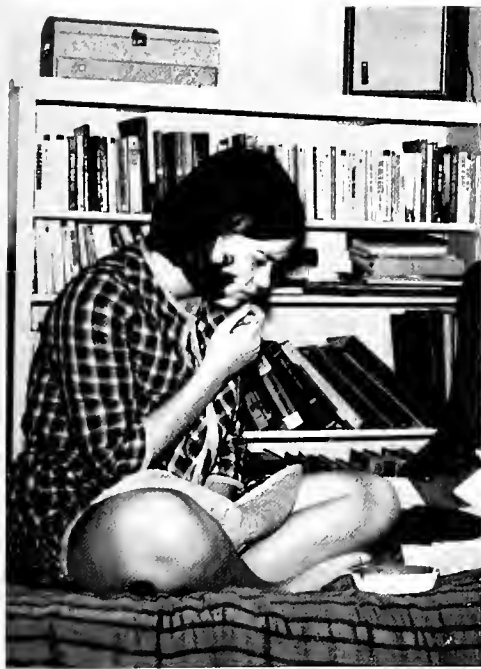

"Aw, shucks, driving 60 miles a day is nothing."

Would you believe we're here to help you?
Well, would you believe . . . ?

A moment of silence for the absent member.

Are these really my notes?

You call THIS a ward?

But I don't need to be evaluated.

It's just too much!

That's one cockroach we won't see anymore.

What a way to spend Friday afternoon!

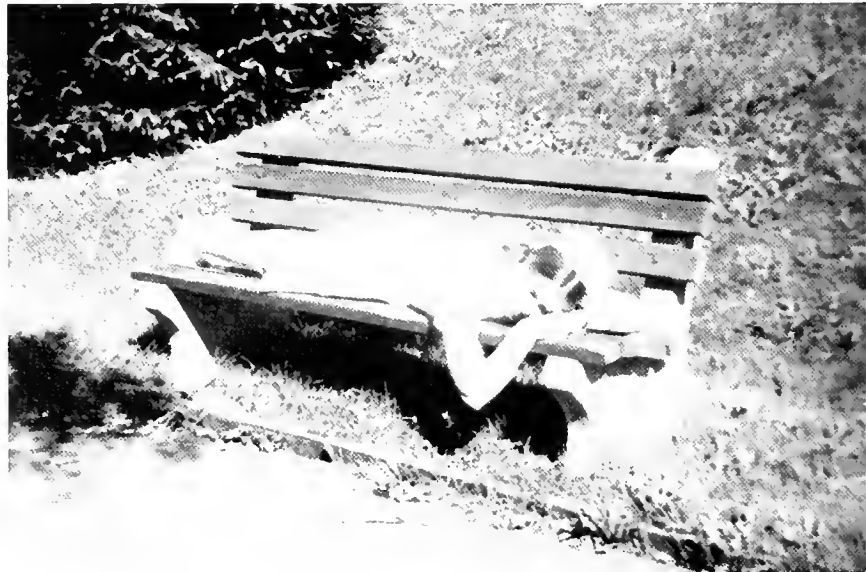

If it takes forever, we will . . .

Come to Parsons Hall and see the world.

Not yet--don't forget Biostat 3:30-6:10 on Fri.

You know, if we could only find some music, we might be able to sing.

So I can't ski - it gives a good impression.

Say, if we all pitch together and buy a can of red paint, we could really liven this place up!

How I love room inspection!

Let's see, 12 and 8 is . . .

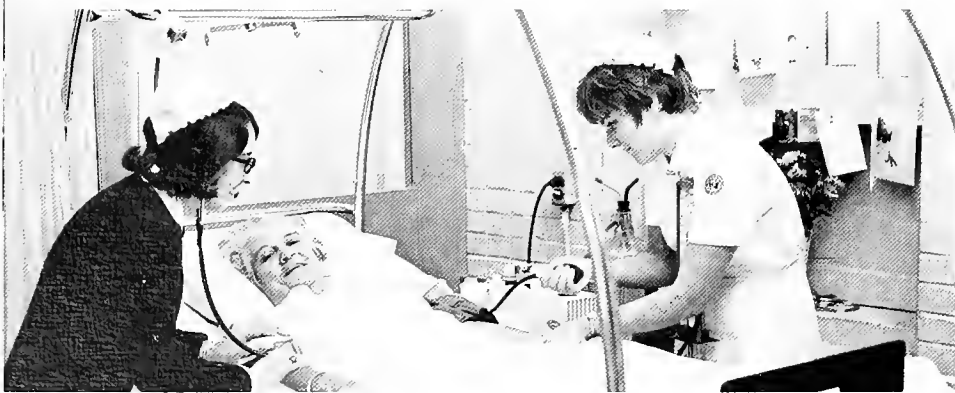

Come on now . . . all of it.

Know your community resources... bakeries, restaurants, department stores.

Now I'm ready for my evaluation.

I don't think this is what they meant by team nursing.

Ham on white.

I just can't read this map! Everything's all over the place!

Hey, I'll bet my maxi is longer than your maxi.

So this is where I'm going to live?

This is a library; this is how you find a book in the library.

You say that it'll all fit in this room?

"Girls, we're going to go out and get where the action is . . . and let's sock it to them this week in the clinical area."

"No, you really didn't do that . . . did you?"

"Apple juice or chocolate drops?"

Would you believe an angel of mercy?

3 . . . 2 . . . 1 . . . blast off!

What—me worry?

I sure wish this music had colored dots instead of notes!

There's always one girl in the dorm who studies.

WHAT A LIFE WE LEAD!

What is this?!

Who doesn't?

Wait 'til I show her my grade card.

Will the real Florence Nightengale please stand up?

Just trying to get a little privacy, that's all!

Advice to the Juniors: Quit while you're ahead.

A quote from Bev Long concerning the psychiatric nursing experience . . .
"It's not where you are; it's who you're at!"

"What do you mean you want to bite my neck?
Is that the way all med students learn to draw blood?"

Now, isn't that simple?

Just how am I supposed to get that stuff into the syringe?

SHOT

Hey, look, I can do it!!

TIME

Miss Towber, are you sure you're taking pharm?

Really, now, it isn't all that bad!

"Don't look now, but I think they've spotted us."

"Hmmm . . . let's see . . . is that sixty respirations and twenty beats per minute or . . ."

"You put your hand there to shift gears."

NEVER A DULL MOMENT!

Let's see, if I can hit the 8 ball into the side pocket, the game will be OVER!

But my jeans aren't dirty!

Well, we're ready to go to the wards!

Me? I'm just going on a weekend pass. How does Spain sound?

I always did want to play Pocahontas.

Are you sure you want to get out of the wheelchair?

"Now where have you been, young lady?"

Honest my psych group had 99% fewer nervous breakdowns . . . two suicides, but no nervous breakdowns!"

"Well, if I had it to do all over again, I'd probably go in to elementary ed."

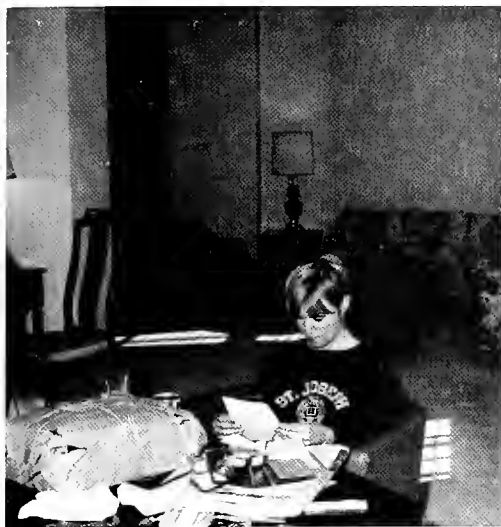

"Blanche, do you want to go over to the inn for a COKE?"

"Who did you say was looking for me?"

"NO, that is not what S.O.B. means when it's on a patient's chart!"

So your husband finally wrote.

So genteel.

What are they smiling for?

Senior-itis personified!

Hey Sue, when do we tell them this is all a hoax?

The line-up

STUDENTS: WHO IS WHO ON

THE FACULTY?

DO YOU KNOW?

The new era of nursing.

I wonder what would happen if we all let go?

Sure we're on speaking terms. Isn't everyone?

How do I look?

Let's see; if I stretch 10 inches, I might be able to reach the cue ball.

EPILOGUE

Looking back over this past year as co-editors of PLEDGE 70, we remember many experiences. We especially remember the meeting we had last June to begin planning for this year's yearbook. It was at this meeting that we conceived the idea of the theme - unity as depicted by the moon landing. We chuckle now at the memory of our excitement and exuberance.

It has been this excitement that has helped the staff over some rough spots this past year. In a sense, the theme has unified the staffs of the two campuses. Our enthusiasm over the cover and the photographs available to us served as a unifying force in times of strife. Now, at last, we present to you PLEDGE 70 - may it be meaningful and enjoyable!

We would like to extend special thanks to our advisors, Miss Carol Moran and LTC Marian Barbieri, for their patience and endurance! We would also like to thank our staff for their labors and dedication.

Best of luck to next year's co-editors!
